

The Cheyenne Regional Airport Board Announces New Appointment for Director of Aviation at the Cheyenne Regional Airport

Tim Barth, C.M.

CHEYENNE, WY – The Cheyenne Regional Airport Board has named Tim Barth, C.M. as the new Director of Aviation at the Cheyenne Regional Airport (CYS).

In his new position, Barth will be responsible for the oversight and administration of all facets of Airport owned facilities, including day to day operations of the airfield, oversight and operation of Legend Aero Serve (FBO), creation and implementation of long range plans and objectives, and interaction with a variety of private and governmental entities and individuals.

Barth brings close to thirty years of airport management experience to his position at CYS. Most recently, he served for nineteen years as the Airport Manager at the Vance Brand Municipal Airport in Longmont, Colorado. Prior to that, he held positions at the Birmingham International Airport, the Denver International Airport and the Reno-Tahoe International Airport.

“I am honored and excited about this opportunity to work with the Airport Board and staff at CYS,” said Barth. “The Cheyenne Regional Airport has great potential and I am looking forward to building upon the current successes of the airport and working with the community to move CYS forward to the next level.”

“The Board is very excited to have Tim on board,” said Kevin Paintner, President of the Cheyenne Regional Airport Board. “He brings a great amount of professional airport experience and he knows the region. We know he’s going to do great things here in Cheyenne.”

Barth holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Public Administration from the University of Nevada, and is a Certified Member (C.M.) with the American Association of Airport Executives (AAAE).
