

Patrick Dooley

FORT WAYNE, Ind. - Greater Fort Wayne Inc. announced that Patrick Dooley has returned as Director of Airport Development for both the Greater Fort Wayne Inc. and the Fort Wayne Airport Authority. Dooley will be stationed at both offices to best serve the airport and economic development needs of the community.

Mr. Dooley held this position from 2009 to 2013 when he left to become Director of Business Development and Key Accounts, North America for Travelex. "Patrick Dooley will return with an excellent mix of airport and economic development knowledge and experience to this position," added John Urbahns, Executive Vice President of Economic Development for Greater Fort Wayne Inc. "We are looking forward to having an employee that can hit the ground running and we welcome him back to our staff."

"We are pleased that Patrick is returning to the position of Director of Airport Development," stated Scott Hinderman, Executive Director for the Fort Wayne-Allen County Airport Authority. "It is testament to the community's ability to attract and retain talent."

"I am very pleased to be back in Fort Wayne," stated Patrick Dooley. "This position truly allows me to do what I love, with coworkers that I value, in a community that has been nothing but welcoming to me for the second time."

Dooley's recent professional background included 10 years with the Indianapolis International Airport (IND), where he served as airport director, vice president of business development, director of marketing and director of retail. Prior to serving at IND, Dooley was director of economic development and special events for Indianapolis Downtown Inc. Dooley was also part of the 2012 Super Bowl Legacy Leadership Committee as co-chair of economic development.

In early 2009, Mr. Dooley was selected for this position in a nationwide search conducted by ADK Executive Search. ADK is pleased that he has returned to Fort Wayne, as he is a great fit for the position and very well thought of in the community.

Mr. Dooley started his new position March 10.
