

The City of Philadelphia Announces New Deputy Director of Aviation, Operations & Security

Bradley Dalton, A.A.E.

PHILADELPHIA, PA – The City of Philadelphia has selected Bradley Dalton as Deputy Director of Aviation, Operations & Security. In this role, Mr. Dalton will be responsible for the direction of the Airport Operations and Security departments for both the Philadelphia International Airport (PHL) and Northeast Philadelphia Airport (PNE). He will begin his new position July 1, 2019.

Mr. Dalton is a proven senior executive leader with more than 29 years in various genres of aviation, extensively in operations, security, and management in air carrier and airport organizations. He has worked for HSS Inc. as Vice President, Aviation and Government Services and Senior Director of Operations. He has also been the Director of Emergency Planning and Training – Airport Operations for Denver International Airport.

“I am very excited for my new position in PHL,” said Mr. Dalton. “I have worked my entire career preparing for this role and looking forward to bringing my background and experience to the PHL Operations and Security Division. PHL is an airport that I have looked up to and am so excited to be a part of the Philadelphia community.”

Mr. Dalton earned a bachelor’s degree in Aerospace Science from Metropolitan State University and an executive master’s degree in Administration & Management from the University of Denver. A private pilot, Mr. Dalton is also an Accredited Member (A.A.E.) of the American Association of Airport Executives.

This national search was conducted by ADK Consulting & Executive Search, a retained executive search firm.

Philadelphia International Airport