

The City of Manchester Announces New Airport Director

Ted Kitchens A.A.E.

Manchester, NH – The City of Manchester has named Ted Kitchens, A.A.E., the new Airport Director for the Manchester-Boston Regional Airport (MHT). Mr. Kitchens will begin his new position Oct. 1.

Mr. Kitchens comes from the Houston Airport System where he has served as General Manager of George Bush Intercontinental Airport (IAH) since 2016. He was the Assistant Director of Planning and Programming in 2015. Mr. Kitchens has also held positions with Peninsula Airport Commission and the City of Atlanta.

“Mr. Kitchens’ knowledge of the industry, his approach to air service and commitment to engaging with the community proves he is the most qualified person to lead one of the most important economic engines in the state,” said Mayor Joyce Craig.

“I am humbled and honored to be chosen as the next Airport Director for the Manchester-Boston Regional Airport,” said Mr. Kitchens. “I want to thank the selection committee for placing their trust in me to lead this vital economic asset. I look forward to working with the employees, tenants, community leaders, regional business partners, Board of Aldermen and the Mayor to enhance trade, travel, and commerce in the Granite State.”

Mr. Kitchens received a Bachelor of Arts in Sociology from University of Central Florida and a Master’s Degree in Urban and Regional Planning from University of Florida. He is an Accredited Airport Executive (A.A.E.) with the American Association of Airport Executives and is actively engaged in multiple volunteer initiatives.

This national search was conducted by ADK Consulting & Executive Search, a retained executive search firm.

Manchester-Boston Regional Airport