The Airport

The Birmingham-Shuttlesworth International Airport (BHM) is Alabama's largest airport serving the Greater Birmingham area and surrounding Southeastern cities. In 2019, more than 3 million passengers chose to fly BHM, making it their airport of choice to reach destinations throughout the United States and around the world with as little as one stop. BHM presently ranks in the country's top 100 airports in terms of passengers served annually.

BHM is operated by the Birmingham Airport Authority, an independent authority autonomous from local government. The Authority is responsible for the day-to-day operations and long-term planning for the airport. It is governed by a 7-member Board of Directors that sets policy, approves the budget, and hires the airport's President / CEO.

There are 165 full time positions at Birmingham Airport Authority supporting a FY 2020 operating budget of just over $41 million in revenues. Additional activity at BHM includes one eight-bay cargo facility, one FBO with two locations, and an Air/Army National Guard facility. The airport is host to over 100 leasing tenants and 4000 total employees.

The five-year capital improvement program for the Authority (FYs 2019-2023) has estimated expenses of nearly $159.5 million. In 2014, the Birmingham Airport Authority completed its most significant terminal modernization project to date at $201.6 million, which achieved LEED Gold certification.

The City of Birmingham

The Community

People who live in Birmingham enjoy the diversity - in entertainment, cuisine, the arts, nightlife, and the great outdoors. The variety brings visitors back time and again. The Birmingham metropolitan area has consistently been rated as one of America's best places to work and earn a living based on the area's competitive salary rates and relatively low living expenses. As the largest city in Alabama, diversity is its greatest strength and strongest appeal, with cultures that are all a part of the charm and intrigue that is Birmingham.

The city of Birmingham played a pivotal role during the era of the Civil Rights Movement. The famous Civil Rights Institute opened in 1992 attracts tourists worldwide and empowers people of all cultures to understand the legacy of human rights.

Birmingham enjoys a balance of manufacturing and service-oriented jobs. The city ranks as one of the most important business centers in the South East and is also one of the largest banking centers in the United States. It also serves as headquarters to one Fortune 500 company and two Fortune 1000 companies.

Sports – A modern city surrounded with sports history and enthusiasm, Birmingham packs the house for some of the South's most premier sporting events. In professional sports, the Class AA Birmingham Barons have one of the proudest traditions in baseball. The team plays at Regions Field, one of the premier stadiums in minor league baseball. The Southeastern Conference is headquartered in Birmingham and is one of the major U.S. collegiate athletic conferences. College football dominates sports in Birmingham. UAB, which fields a major college basketball and baseball team, also has a Division 1A football program. The team plays at Legion Field. College athletics also play an important role on the campuses of Birmingham- Southern College, Samford University, and Miles College. UAB/City just broke ground on a new $174 million downtown stadium, and Legacy Arena is undergoing a $123 million renovation. Motorsports are also very popular in the Birmingham area and across the state, and the area is home to numerous annual motorsport races. Visitors and residents are enjoying Top Golf's brand new $20 million facility, which is 65,000-square-feet and three stories. Birmingham will host the World Games in 2022. More than 3,600 international athletes are expected to compete in more than 30 sports over the course of 11 days in July.

Outdoor Activities – Birmingham's four distinct seasons provide the perfect backdrop for a range of outdoor activities including running, cycling, fishing and of course, golfing. Fishermen appreciate that Birmingham was named "Bass Capitol of the World" by ESPN and Bassmaster magazine.

The Community - Things to Do

Birmingham's weather is a lure for golfers as well as the handsome and challenging public golf courses. With the development of the state's Robert Trent Jones Golf Trail, Alabama became the Godfather of Great Golf, with Birmingham having two courses along the trail.

Dining in Birmingham – Just remember that Birmingham is home to "the Oscars of dining" with James Beard Foundation Award winners and nominees and has won awards from Gourmet, Bon Appétit, and Esquire magazines. Highlands Bar and Grill received the James Beard Foundation's award for the most outstanding restaurant in America for 2018. People come from around the Southeast to dine at chef-owned restaurants across the city. Renowned NYC mega-restaurateur Danny Meyer named Birmingham in an interview in New York Times when asked about up-and- coming food cities.

Entertainment – When the sun goes down in Birmingham, the fun is just beginning. From intimate clubs to world-class music halls, people discover that no matter where they go in the city, live entertainment is always right around the corner. And with live theatre, nationally known musical acts and orchestral performances, Birmingham gets even better after dark. Legendary jazz greats are immortalized in the Alabama Jazz Hall of Fame. At the McWane Science Center, you have four floors of hands-on exhibits and an IMAX Dome Theatre to experience. The Birmingham Museum of Art has one of the finest collections in the Southeast. The Alabama Symphony Orchestra has entertained audiences for more than 70 years, playing a variety of classical and popular compositions and hosting performances by some of the finest international guest artists. And for ballet enthusiasts, there is the Alabama Ballet and the Birmingham Ballet.

Shopping – The area's antique shops are becoming places of legend in upscale lifestyle magazines around the county. Trendy malls have taken root all over the area. The Summit is one of Birmingham's trendiest shopping destinations with high end retailers. Dozens of new art galleries surprise enthusiasts and collectors with a wide variety of paintings, sculpture, jewelry, ceramics, fine and funk art.

Things to Do – The Birmingham Zoo is a large regional zoo with more than 700 animals and an interactive children's zoo. The Birmingham Botanical Gardens is a 67-acre park displaying a wide variety of plants in interpretive gardens, including formal rose gardens, tropical greenhouses, and a large Japanese Garden. It is complemented by Hoover's 30-acre Aldridge Botanical Gardens, which offers a place to stroll, and is to add unique displays in coming years. Alabama Adventure Amusement Park and Splash Adventure Water Park in Bessemer serves as the Birmingham area's amusement and water park, featuring numerous rides, slides and water-themed attractions.
